Introduction

This booklet was written to provide contact names and telephone numbers to obtain information on water resources. It also includes information on the new Provincial Groundwater Monitoring Network. In addition, we have also provided people to contact if municipalities are interested in pursuing groundwater management studies and infrastructure investments.

How to get information on local surface water quality...

The Provincial Water Quality Monitoring Network receives samples throughout the year. The amount of information on a catchment area will vary depending on location. For example, there will more data available for Southern Ontario tributaries and the Great Lakes than for Northern Ontario catchments.

How to get information on the new Provincial Groundwater Monitoring Network...

- 1) Contact Jim Clifford, Project Manager of the Provincial Groundwater Monitoring Network by:
phone: 416-235-6199
fax: 416-235-5960
e-mail jim.clifford@ene.gov.on.ca
- 2) Because the Conservation Authorities act as the liaisons between the municipalities and the Ontario Ministry of the Environment, it may be useful to contact the Conservation Authorities as well. See Conservation Authorities List.

How to find funding for groundwater management studies...

- 1) Write a letter to the Minister of the Environment stating that you want funding for a groundwater management study. Let the government know that municipalities are concerned over groundwater resources.

Hon. Elizabeth Witmer
135 St. Clair Avenue W.
Toronto, ON M4V 1P5
- 2) Unfortunately, funding through the Provincial Water Protection Fund is no longer available.
- 3) Round 1 of the OSTAR program that did have for groundwater studies has passed, but municipalities should be on the alert as to what the priorities are for Round 2 funding. 1-866-306-7826

How to find funding for infrastructure investment....

- 1) The OSTAR program was set up for small municipalities to get funding for capital costs of new infrastructure. However, Round 1 has already passed, which includes funding for water, wastewater, and transportation infrastructures, and Superbuild does not know when Round 2 will be announced and whether the priorities will remain with water. However, it may be useful to contact them in the future for any new initiatives.
